

I feel that the arrl has already covered this and represents the full body of the amateur community. I would rather save the FCC's time and taxpayer money and resources on other things than this petition by a small group with limited interests.